

Star Trek: Of Gods and Men is very proud to announce that we have won the 2008 Syfy Portal Genre Award for Best Web Production! The following is an excerpt, written by Michael Hinman, from Syfyportal.com announcing the STOGAM win:

"In a category that will likely gain more and more prominence as years go on, "Star Trek: Of Gods and Men" took Best Web Production, beating out a very strong slate that included "Star Trek: Odyssey," "The House Between" and "Star Trek: New Voyages." Actor Tim Russ, best known as Tuvok from "Star Trek: Voyager," told SyFy Portal in a statement after the award was announced on SyFy Radio that he was proud of receiving a SyFy Genre Award.

"For everyone who poured their time, energy and creativity into the making of this project, I give my sincerest congratulations," said Russ, who directed the online production."

You can read more about all the winners of the SyFy Genre Awards here:
LINK